

Wataru Yamada received a B.E., M.E. and Ph.D. degrees from Hokkaido University in Japan in 2000, 2002 and 2010, respectively. Since joining NTT in 2002, he has been engaged in the research of propagation characteristics for wide band access systems. From 2013 to 2014, he was a visiting research associate at the Centre for Telecommunications Research in King's College London, UK. He is currently a distinguished researcher in NTT Access Network Service Systems Laboratories. He received the Young Researcher's Award, the Communications Society Best Paper Award and the Best Paper Award from the Institute of Electronics, Information and Communication Engineers (IEICE) in 2006, 2011 and 2014, respectively.